OVC Race May Be Determined On Monday

The outcome of the Ohio Valley Conference race may be determined Monday night, January 16 when the Murray State Thunderbolts meet the Eagles of Morehead State. Should Murray win, the Racers would be in a good position to win or tie for the title. If the Eagles were to beat both Tennessee Tech and Murray, then they would have a 7-0 record in the conference and would be in the driver's seat.

The game, which is a home contest for Morehead, will pit the nation's top offense club against the 12th ranked team. Morehead is currently on top of the offense figures with a 96.6 average 87.6 in 14 games.

Foul shots may play a big role in the outcome. Murray is pushing North Carolina State for top honors with a devastating 77.2 percentage from the free throw line. Morehead, trailing Murray by only 17 points, is rated third in the same department.

The game will pit two high scoring men. The Eagles have Dan Swartz, who is the nation's third highest scorer with a 29 point output per game. Howie Crittenden, Murray's leading scorer, is averaging 21.2 per game and is ranked 47th in the national averages.

Coach Rex Alexander has indicated that even though his racers outran the Eagles in the Kentucky Invitational Tournament this is not to be taken as a sign that Murray will run at Morehead.

"The boys and I still remember what happened last year when we tried to run with them up there," he said.

The 400 mile trip, including many miles over mountainous roads, affects the team's ability to operate for 40 minutes, in the view of Coach Alexander.

Other factors that affect play at Morehead, said Coach Alexander, include the size of the gym.

"The face at Morehead are extremely loyal, which together with the compactness of the gym, creates an atmosphere which is hard on visiting players. Back through the years, Murray teams have always had a terrific struggle at Morehead," Murray's youthful mentor commented.

"This year we do not entertain any thought of being a better ball club than Morehead, even though our victory in the KIT came a little easier than we had expected. This is undoubtedly the best Morehead team in the school's history," he continued.

Because Murray knocked Morehead out of the undefeated ranks and because Morehead is endeavoring to keep its unbeaten record within the OVC intact, the battle should be enormous, the coach indicated.

Entrance Of Ike's Name In Primaries Freezes Out Others

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14 (UP)—The scramble to put President Eisenhower's name in primaries appeared today to be having its intended effect—freezing out other potential candidates while the President's second-term plans remain a mystery.

The presumption is that any potential Republican candidate would be clobbered if he were bold enough to enter a primary against Mr. Eisenhower. Therefore, they will stay away.

This will give the President time to reach his decision.

Other political developments:

1. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) said Adlai E. Stevenson is "far ahead" in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

2. Gov. Walter J. Kohler is expected to run as a "favorite son" candidate.

3. Democratic favorite Stevenson attacked the Eisenhower school aid program as "another example of government by political expediency."

4. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stassen, parents of presidential dissmantler adviser Harold Stassen, were the first to sign a petition placing the President's name on the Minnesota primary ballot.

5. Julien U. Squire, counsel in the Senate's investigation of Communism in the press, was reported to be considering becoming a candidate for the Senate. Congressional sources said Squire, a new chief counsel of the Senate internal security subcommittee, is eyeing the Senate seat now held by Sen. Alan Bible (D-Nev.) Bible announced recently he intends to retire from the Senate.

Mr. Eisenhower is generally expected to wait to announce his plans until he hears a final report from his doctors on his recovery from his September heart attack.

The report is expected about mid-February.

"But by then the deadline will have passed for entering five of the 18 state presidential primaries.

Three Of Five

Plans already have been announced to enter Mr. Eisenhower in three of the five Illinois, New Hampshire and Minnesota.

The fourth state is Ohio, where the state GOP organization has entered a delegation pledged to Sen. John W. Bricker as a "favorite son," but committed to Mr. Eisenhower if he wants renomination.

The fifth state with an early deadline is West Virginia where Eisenhower forces have taken no action so far. However, the presidential primary in that state is merely advisory and unpledged national convention delegates are elected.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, who wanted a definite announcement from Mr. Eisenhower this month, was reported by friends to be watching the primary developments with some impatience.

Knowland's friends, believe, however, that he is standing pat as a potential candidate if Mr. Eisenhower retires. He is understood to feel that the rash of moves to put Mr. Eisenhower in the state primaries should not be regarded as a tipoff that the President intends to run again.

Countian's Son To Enter West Point

Charles K. Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Reid of 30 Waddell Avenue, Madisonville, Kentucky, and formerly of Calloway County, has received an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Reid's father is a native of Calloway County and lived at Kirksby before going to Madisonville. He is a nephew of Mrs. Mary Reid and Devoe Reid of Kirksby.

Young Reid, a senior at Madisonville High School, received the non-competitive endship appointment through Congressman William H. Natcher, Bowling Green, representative of Kentucky's Second Congressional District.

He will take his physical examination at Fort Campbell in the near future, and is slated to enter West Point on the first Tuesday in July of 1956.

Young Reid recently was one of six Madisonville High School seniors to take a merit test under the National Merit School Program, participated in by 15,158 high school seniors all over the United States.

Reid ranked in the upper eleven per cent in the nation in this test and will go to Evansville today to take part in semi-finals of the merit program.

Indian experts here theorized the strangers may have offered the missionaries a shrunken head as most prized trophy of their tribe as a token of friendship.

The missionaries knew they were taking their lives in their hands when they ventured among the Aucas, who have been continuously on the warpath against all comers for at least 40 years.

Alcoholics Number In Millions

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK — The freshest and most scientifically tested statistics place the number of alcoholics in the United States at 4,389,000, of whom 705,000 are women.

This amounts to 4,389 alcoholics for each 10,000 of population, on a nationwide basis. But the nation's capital showed a rate of 7,800 per 10,000 population which was the highest on a regional basis.

Of the states, California led all the rest, with a rate of 7,000, followed by Connecticut, Nevada, Delaware, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Illinois in that order. Only one state had a rate of fewer than 2,000 per 10,000 population—Idaho with 1,770. In ascending order from this least alcoholic state were South Carolina, Alabama, Iowa, Kansas, South Dakota, Utah, and Mississippi.

Show Slow Increase
The new statistics are for the year 1953 and showed only a slight over-all increase from those of the previous year, from 4,350, per 10,000 population to 4,389. This carried further a slow increase in rate which began after 1930 which showed the lowest recorded, 2,600 per 10,000 population.

The rate for 1940 was 4,900 per 10,000 population.
Those are the statistics—frags the Yale University Center for the Study of Alcohol. The question is, what is to be in a d.e. of them? Yale's statistical scientists, Mark Keller and Vera Efron, approached this question with extreme caution.

If you took the numbers of alcoholics year by year, you could then say alcoholism was increasing at an enormous rate. But the total population has increased enormously over those years, they pointed out—and so the only meaningful measure of increase is the rate per 10,000.

Male-Female Ratio
But one relatively clear statistical demonstration was the ratio of male alcoholics to female alcoholics. In 1953 it was 5.5 males to each female. In 1932 it was 5.8 to one, but the year before it was 5.5 to one. Indeed, since 1910 the ratio has varied only narrowly—between 6.3 to one in 1915 to 5.3 to one in 1925 and 1930. So there is no relative rise in alcoholism among women.

The statisticians noted strange statistical occurrences in their tabulation of alcoholism by states, but had no explanation for it. In Arkansas, Maine, and North Dakota the rate approximately doubled between 1940 and 1953. In 1940 these three were among the lowest. And Nevada showed the least increase—a mere two per cent. In 1940 it headed the states; in 1953 it was fourth. But shifts of only a few positions in the rating were "meaningless."

The Oscar-winning Philadelphia who has a reputation in Hollywood as a girl who "knows" her own mind about her career and her clothes, said she was "delighted" to have her taste in clothes complimented so highly. The best dressed list is compiled annually by the Couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

MRS. KELLY DOUBTS REPORT

MR. AND MRS. JOHN B. KELLY, parents of Grace Kelly, look at a newspaper in their Philadelphia home to read announcement from Monaco that Grace and Prince Rainier III will be married in Monaco. Said Mrs. Kelly, "There must be a misunderstanding. . . I do not believe that the prince has made up his mind about wedding plans. I know that he personally leans to a quiet wedding in Philadelphia." ### Silent Star Married First Royalty

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written For United Press
ROME — "Queen Kelly" was the name of one of the last silent movies to be written and directed by Eric von Stroheim. But it was not finished.

The star of the movie was the Marquise de la Falaise de la Coudraye, etc. — better known as Gloria Swanson, the first American actress to marry a title.

Now that the world is about to have a "Princess Kelly" Rainier, I have been asked how it feels to exchange plain Miss or Mrs. for a different sounding word.

How did I feel? Well, let me see—I felt all right and quite frankly no different except that I noticed more people made a fuss over me because of my title than they would have over my own earned fame.

Waiters Adore Titles
Especially in restaurants. Headwaiters simply adore the sound of a title, and hostesses all swoon at the thought of having one at their garden or dinner parties.

No matter if it's only a mere barones, the lowest rung on the title ladder. Still it's a title, and a title seems to have something magic about it, because, I am sure, it is a hangover from our fairy-tale reading days. The Cinderella story has always been a go-by theme, and still is — despite the D. R. S. displaced royalty.

The community will hum for days at the prospects of entertaining this appendage to a person, though a Nobel prize winner might be more enlightening or for that matter more entertaining.

I have noticed in Europe since the war that a few persons have discarded the use of their titles but continue to have plenty of evidence around as a constant reminder to others that there is one in the family.

"Very Democratic"
You can hardly miss the sound of their stationery, calling cards and letters in the bedrooms, bathrooms and dining room. This kind of evidence is usually accompanied with whispers of "My dear, don't say anything, but he (or she) has a title — but of course never uses it — very democratic."

Whether or not its democratic, believe me, I'm going to pull my title out of mothballs when the name Gloria Swanson no longer gets me a good table in a crowded restaurant. If Barbara Hutton, who just before her recent marriage to a baron, can register at the Ritz in Paris as a princess, though she's had a few plain husbands in between, so can I.

Family Reunion Is Held Recently At The Colson Home

A holiday dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Tennie Colson, 301 North 16th Street.

It was the first time in many years since she and her family had all been together at the same time.

The youngest son, T.Sgt. Arthur Colson, wife Jean and their three children, Pattie Ann and twins David and Dean were here from Parks Air Force, California.

He left for Japan this week for a three years tour of duty. His wife and children are living temporarily at Mounds, Ill., until time to join him in Japan.

While stationed at Parks Air Force Base he was assigned to the Casualty Section of the Wing Adjutants Office.

The daughter, Ople and her husband, Capt. Edward Eneid, are also in the Air Force and stationed at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi, Mississippi.

One brother and all but one sister were present for the reunion. A wonderful buffet dinner was served to the group. In addition to the food already prepared by Mrs. Colson, most of the others brought along a special dish for the occasion.

Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Anna Hopkins and daughter, Carolyn of Murray, Mrs. Boyd Bizzle of Almo, Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Mathis and daughter, Wanda Sue of Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vick of Martin, Tenn., Mrs. James Futrell and daughter Sandra of Dexter.

Britons Dig Rock and Roll Say Quartet

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK 13—The Crew-Cuts, a musical group of four young men with the normal quota of hair, delivered this terrible piece of news today—staid Britons are beginning to dig rock-and-roll.

"We were in England for eight weeks," said Johnnie Perkins, the group's second tenor. "And the stuff is beginning to catch on—'Rock Around The Clock' is one of the big numbers over there."

The Crew-Cuts are the vocal quartet which can be credited, if that is the word, with giving the principal impetus to the craze for the type of musical madness known as rock-and-roll. Their record of "Sh-Boom" way back in the summer of 1954 was the first R-and-R disk to hit paydirt in the pop field.

After that came a deluge of waxed biscuits featuring the repetitive phrases, the primitive beat and semi-literate lyrics of R-and-R.

Ballads Still Big
"Ballads," pointed out Ray Perkins, bass, "are still the big thing over there, but rock and roll is getting more and more popular."

"Sh-Boom" did fairly well and our "Earth Angel" was very big. Of course, as the other two boys, Rudi Maugeri and Pat Barrett, pointed out, Britons still have a long way to go before they can qualify as full-fledged hipsters.

"Their slang is pretty weird," said Rudi. "When they like something they say—'That's lovely' or 'that's a smashing' pronounced smash-ling. They also say 'It's crackles'."

"And when they dislike something," said Ray, "they use 'shocking bad'."

However, despite this patois approach to the science of communication, the Crew-Cuts said there was a lot of hope for our cousins across the Atlantic.

Britons In Swing
For one thing, said the Crew-Cuts, English bobby-soxers are beginning to get in the swing of things.

"Backstage, there's no difference between American and English kids," said Johnnie. "They're both pretty wild as far as showing their enthusiasm. In one town, Newcastle, the kids broke down the stage door and just piled through. The doorman lost his watch in the scuffle."

"And just the week before we hit a town, the kids staged a small riot where Johnny Ray was playing."

The Crew-Cuts, currently signed for three more appearances on CBS-TV's "Stage Show," said they did notice some difference in their audiences here and abroad.

"In this country," explained Johnnie, "the kids sit in the front rows and holler and scream all day. In England, the adults sit up front and the kids, in the third balcony, when the kids start to scream, the adults turn around to watch them—this embarrasses the kids so much that they just stop screaming."

CHANGE NEEDED
NORTH KINGSTOWN, R. I. 13—Kingstown Library can use some new volumes.

A pre-World War I edition of an encyclopedia used by school children defined uranium as:

"A useless metal not found in the United States."

DREAM CAR BECOMES A REALITY—The Eldorado Brongham, first shown as an experimental dream car last year, is scheduled for limited production by the Cadillac Motor Car Division later this year. According to Cadillac, the car, which will sell for about $8,500, will feature the greatest number of technological advances ever included on a custom built automobile in the history of the automotive industry.

Britons Dig Rock and Roll Say Quartet

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK 13—The Crew-Cuts, a musical group of four young men with the normal quota of hair, delivered this terrible piece of news today—staid Britons are beginning to dig rock-and-roll.

"We were in England for eight weeks," said Johnnie Perkins, the group's second tenor. "And the stuff is beginning to catch on—'Rock Around The Clock' is one of the big numbers over there."

The Crew-Cuts are the vocal quartet which can be credited, if that is the word, with giving the principal impetus to the craze for the type of musical madness known as rock-and-roll. Their record of "Sh-Boom" way back in the summer of 1954 was the first R-and-R disk to hit paydirt in the pop field.

After that came a deluge of waxed biscuits featuring the repetitive phrases, the primitive beat and semi-literate lyrics of R-and-R.

Ballads Still Big
"Ballads," pointed out Ray Perkins, bass, "are still the big thing over there, but rock and roll is getting more and more popular."

"Sh-Boom" did fairly well and our "Earth Angel" was very big. Of course, as the other two boys, Rudi Maugeri and Pat Barrett, pointed out, Britons still have a long way to go before they can qualify as full-fledged hipsters.

"Their slang is pretty weird," said Rudi. "When they like something they say—'That's lovely' or 'that's a smashing' pronounced smash-ling. They also say 'It's crackles'."

"And when they dislike something," said Ray, "they use 'shocking bad'."

However, despite this patois approach to the science of communication, the Crew-Cuts said there was a lot of hope for our cousins across the Atlantic.

Britons In Swing
For one thing, said the Crew-Cuts, English bobby-soxers are beginning to get in the swing of things.

"Backstage, there's no difference between American and English kids," said Johnnie. "They're both pretty wild as far as showing their enthusiasm. In one town, Newcastle, the kids broke down the stage door and just piled through. The doorman lost his watch in the scuffle."

"And just the week before we hit a town, the kids staged a small riot where Johnny Ray was playing."

The Crew-Cuts, currently signed for three more appearances on CBS-TV's "Stage Show," said they did notice some difference in their audiences here and abroad.

"In this country," explained Johnnie, "the kids sit in the front rows and holler and scream all day. In England, the adults sit up front and the kids, in the third balcony, when the kids start to scream, the adults turn around to watch them—this embarrasses the kids so much that they just stop screaming."
